Google AdWords Recertified

Tuesday, May 15, 2007, 12:33:10 PM | Nancy →

I have just completed and passed my testing to re certify my Google AdWords Qualified Individual credentials for another two years. Google has changed the exam and I found it easier than the first, but they have not updated all of the information in the exam to reflect new account improvements. Plus I studied so hard on Google Analytics and AdWords Editor and there were no questions on the exam

Nancy McCord Interviewed on Ghost Blogging for Investors Business Daily

Thursday, May 10, 2007, 1:18:14 PM | Nancy →

Today in the Thursday May 10th print issue as well as in the online issue, Nancy McCord of McCord Web Design was quoted in an article on ghost blogging. You can click our blog post title to read the full article online. The article appearing in the Internet & Technology section is titled "Writing Blogs Can Be So Hard, So Get Help" by Tony Kortzer. I think that you'll find the interviews by

If you know a site supports RSS, you can manually enter the RSS URL above and it will be added to your page. Not every site has an RSS URL. Follow these 5 steps:

1. Go to the site you want to add.
2. Look for an RSS icon. Usually, it looks like a square with a dot in the center. Usual icons are orange or green. If you don't see one, the site may not have an RSS feed.
3. To find the RSS URL, right-click on the orange XML button to "Copy Shortcut." Or click on the "XML" button and use "Ctrl-C" on your keyboard to copy the URL found in the address bar of your browser.
